

Eight members of EXARC, united in the liveARCH project, published a 200 pages guide-book in English on 220 archaeological open air museums across Europe.

If you are an European AOAM there is a very good chance you are in it.

This publication offers a journey to special places where the past comes to life through activities, (re)constructions and live interpretation.

EXARC is an ICOM Affiliated Organisation.

Guide to the Archaeological Open Air Museums in Europe

EXARC is looking into the possibility of a 2nd print of this guide which you can pre-subscribe to and sell in your shops or use for your stakeholders or colleagues. Our offer is as follows (all included - P&P - with delivery to your doorstep): 10 copies for € 110 or 50 copies for € 450. That is either € 11 or € 9 per copy. We expect the books can sell for about € 17.50 each.

A PDF sample is on line at www.exarc.net/about_us/guide2010.ftml

We will collect pre-subscriptions until we have enough and then print. Once we decide to go ahead, we will inform you and we send you an invoice to pay in advance of delivery.

For questions or to accept one or more of our offers please contact the EXARC Secretariat:

EXARC is the international organisation of Archaeological Open Air Museums and Experimental Archaeology. EXARC stands for networking by professionals, those in archaeological open air museums as well as in experimental archaeology. We exchange experience, tips & tricks and best practice and are working on better quality for the people involved, their (experimental) work and archaeological open air museums in general.

We have several offers we like to bring under your attention.

1. You can now become Member of EXARC. With members everywhere, we can ensure an exchange of knowledge, experience and best practice.
2. You can subscribe to our Journal EuroREA as well as publish your articles with us. We also offer our journal to advertise.
3. We offer a possibility to pre-subscribe on the 2nd print of the Guide to the Archaeological Open Air Museums in Europe.

Please read more inside.

On behalf of the EXARC Board,

Ilaria Pulini, Chairman

Become a Member of EXARC

We hereby offer you membership of EXARC.

With members everywhere, we can ensure an exchange of knowledge, experience and best practice. Themes cover not only public archaeology, experimental archaeology, skills, living history and interpretation, but also exchange of staff, dialogue with visitors, marketing & communication and of course museum management.

EXARC is an ICOM Affiliated Organisation.

EuroREA (established 2004) is a discussion platform for the exchange of experience and information in all aspects of archaeological experiment, (re)construction, the use of models in education as well as live interpretation including 'living history'.

For PDF samples or back issues please check on line.

EXARC members form a mutually supportive network

On line you can find important information regarding EXARC, including the structure of the association and its constitution. The next convention of members is announced on line and all members introduce themselves, so you can contact them directly. You will find information on how you yourself can become member. Finally, the journal of EXARC, EuroREA, has an important section on the website.

Small as well as large scale cooperation within the association are organised individually to ensure a better success. Since its beginning, EXARC has initiated a number of international projects, some of which were funded by the European Union. New ideas are developed continuously and are discussed by the members of EXARC. You can read about our present cooperation projects on line.

With EuroREA

1. We offer subscription to our journal for € 12 each number (currently one per year). You could also, like many other museums, sell the journal in your shop. If you order 10 or more copies, the wholesale cost is € 6 each, excluding postage. You can combine new and old issues in one order.

2. We offer publication of your articles which are received by an international editorial board. Articles may be either in English, French or German and when published are accompanied by a summary in the other two languages.

3. Finally, we also offer our journal to advertise and reach many archaeological open air museums as well as other readers across the globe. Check on line for our pricing.
